March calendar girl

Cathy Patterson, March calendar girl, takes a few minutes to pet a playful kitten during a warm February day. Cathy is the 18 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Patterson of North Ridge Road in Sikeston. She is five feet three inches tall, weighs 110 pounds, has brown hair and blue eyes. Cathy's favorite subjects are journalism and choir. She also enjoys photography, music and concerts during her free time. She plans to work at a summer camp before attending University of Missouri in Columbia this fall.

Drainage a problem

Subdivision approved

The City Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday night recommended to the City Council that the Crestwood Estates Subdivision be approved for development.

The proposed subdivision consists of 50 lots and is bounded by Ingram Road and Pine, Helen and Virginia streets.

The primary problem with the subdivision, in the commission's view, is one of drainage of surface water. Commissioners finally agreed that a storm sewer system would be adequate.

The developer, Charles Matthews, asked the commission to do something to ease the water problem on Pine Street. He said the problem is getting worse about 125 yards north of the subdivision near the Virginia Pines apartment complex.

The water from that area would run down across the subdivision if it were not dammed up by earth, he said.

Matthews agreed to meet with City Manager Jim Huff to discuss ways the problem could be solved.

The commission directed Huff to prepare a resolution asking the council to prohibit property owners from building fences or planting shrubs on utility easements. The easements are normally 15 feet wide, although some of the older easements are narrower.

Dick Inman, director of the Board of Municipal Utilities, told the commission that the fences and shrubs create a problem for the light and water office every time the utility lines have to be dug up.

2 dropped from suit

NEW MADRID — Two defendants have dropped from a mandamus suit brought by Harold Norton, Delta Area Head Start education director whose removal had been recommended by the University of Missouri Extension Service.

The order dropping C. B. Ratchford, president of the university, and R. H. Bezoni, university comptroller, as defendants, was issued Tuesday by Circuit Court Judge William L. Ragland.

Two other defendants, Carl N. Scheneman, vice president of the university extension service, and Glenn Patton of Charleston, area extension director and former acting director of the Delta Head Start program, are still named in the suit.

Norton filed suit in Circuit Court when the Head Start policy committee concurred with a recommendation for his removal Jan. 29. Patton told

Hanoi still dragging feet on POW issue

PARIS (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers urgently demanded today that North Vietnam resume the liberation of American war prisoners, but there was no indication he got a satisfactory response.

A North Vietnamese spokesman at the Paris conference on Vietnam said Hanoi will stop its stall in the prisoner releases only when the Joint Military Commission in Saigon guarantees the security of its Communist members stationed in South Vietnamese cities.

The Viet Cong's foreign minister, Nguyen Thi Binh, told newsmen that violations of the peace agreement by the United States and South Vietnam raise doubt about the conference's ability to underwrite the settlement worked out by Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho.

Rogers called the North Vietnamese minister, Nguyen Duy Trinh, to a special meeting at the international conference to protest the interrupted prisoner releases. He said the delay was a clear violation of the peace agreement signed here Jan. 27.

Acting on direct instructions from President Nixon, Rogers interrupted his activities at the 12-power Vietnam conference pending a satisfactory settlement of the prisoner dispute.

Immediately after his meeting with Trinh, the U.S. delegation canceled a scheduled news conference and Rogers went into prolonged telephone contact with the White House.

At Trinh's suggestion, the meeting had been widened to include Mrs. Binh and South Vietnamese foreign minister, Tran Van Lam.

President Nixon had instructed Rogers to seek "clarification" of the halt in POW releases. The U. S. secretary also was certain to raise the matter of anti-aircraft missile batteries near Khe Sanh, below the demilitarized zone, which the United States says were brought down by the North Vietnamese after the cease-fire went into effect Jan. 28.

U.S. delegation spokesman Robert McCloskey said Tuesday the North Vietnamese had infiltrated "several thousand" troops and some heavy military equipment into South Vietnam since the cease-fire.

A North Vietnamese spokesman, Nguyen Thanh Le, denied McCloskey's charges and labeled them "slandorous allegations put forward... to camouflage and justify the very serious violations committed by the United States and the Saigon administration."

Meanwhile, backstage work continued on the declaration to be issued by the conference.

President Nixon ordered Rogers to suspend all his activities at the conference until he met with Trinh, but conference sources stressed the order did not freeze their aides' efforts to agree on a formal declaration concerning peacekeeping machinery. The goal is to have it signed by the weekend.

Even before the White House announced Nixon's orders, the conference had recessed until Thursday while a drafting committee hammered out details of the declaration.

Deputy Assistant Secretary of State William Sullivan met for 2½ hours Tuesday night with North Vietnam's deputy foreign minister, Nguyen Co Thach, at the International Conference Center on Avenue Kleber.

Conference sources said the meeting was concerned mainly with eliminating remaining differences over the peacekeeping declaration. Sullivan would not comment on his discussion with Thach other than to say it was concerned with "making progress at the conference". Conference sources said the drafting committee would meet today without any U.N. presence.

They said a U.N. official was present at Tuesday morning's meeting but without an identification nameplate in front of him. When the meeting resumed after lunch, the U. S. plate was visible and the Communists immediately protested.

Cline argues for 18-year-olds

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri House today approved a joint resolution calling for a commission to set up that would set the salaries of state government officials.

The resolution, sent to the Senate, calls for a constitutional amendment to be presented to voters at the 1974 general election.

It was sponsored by the leadership of both parties, and there was no debate.

The vote was 137-19. The nine-member commission would have full authority to set salaries. Its decision could be rejected only by a two-thirds vote of the legislature.

The governor would appoint three commissioners, the chief justice two and the Senate and House leaders two each.

House leaders said a number of other states have the commission system for raising salaries. They said legislators are often reluctant to approve needed raises for themselves because of possible negative public reaction.

The age of 21 for full adult rights should be lowered to give 18-year olds the full responsibilities and privileges of majority, three House members told a committee Tuesday night.

"The rights 18-year-olds are looking for are long overdue," Rep. Vernon King, D-Lawson, told the House Judiciary Committee Tuesday night.

"There was no basis for the 21-year-old level ... to begin with," he said.

"We should go clear across the board, every right and every responsibility," said Rep. C. F. Cline, D-Sikeston.

King and Cline are sponsoring bills to lower the age of majority to 18.

The governor favors lowering the age of majority to 18, Cline said, and pointed out that 15 other states have granted adult rights to 18-year-olds.

Cline and King urged the committee to pass the bill out so it could be given a chance on the floor, or "taken to the jury," as King put it.

In floor action Tuesday, the House passed and sent to the Senate an emergency appropriation bill of $18.7

Special election May 15

CHARLESTON — A special election was set for May 15 by the City Council Tuesday night to permit

Charleston residents to vote on a revenue bond issue for water and sewer improvements.

The amount of the bond issue was not set. This will be discussed and a final decision will be made at the March council meeting.

The city has received a $302,500 grant from the department of Housing and Urban Development and a $181,500 grant from Ozarkia for water improvements. Grants are now pending from the Missouri Clean Water Commission and the Environmental Protection Agency for sewer improvements.

The council accepted a bid of $36.99 per meter for 500 water meters from Henry A. Petter Supply Co. of Paducah, Ky.

Youth held for investigation of concealed gun

Police this morning were holding Howard Lee Patton, 17, of Valley Park for investigation of carrying a concealed weapon.

Police stopped Patton's car at 2:15 a.m. today at the corner of East Malone Avenue and North Prairie Street and discovered a gun in the car.

A 15-year-old Sikeston boy traveling with Patton was turned over to juvenile authorities for curfew violation.

The gun, a .30-.30 caliber rifle, was found on the floor of the car under a coat. The gun was in a case and loaded with six bullets. The juvenile was carrying a brown bag containing 21 bullets, police said.

Qualified will be hired: Phelps

EAST PRAIRIE — "The best qualified people available for employment will be working for state government when the personnel evaluation process is completed," acting Gov. William C. Phelps said Tuesday night as he spoke at the fifth annual Lincoln Day banquet.

The event, sponsored by the Mississippi County Republican Committee, was held in A. J. Martin Elementary School.

Phelps is serving as acting governor while Gov. Christopher Bond is out of the state attending the National Governor's Conference in Washington.

Frank Carter, vice chairman of the Mississippi County Republican Committee, introduced Phelps as "the man who has fulfilled his campaign promise of being Missouri's first 'full-time' lieutenant governor."

Phelps began his address with a review of the November 1972 general election in which he and his party won major victories in Missouri. Phelps did not know until mid-December that his victory was official by a margin of only 12,000 votes.

"I feel very fortunate to have the opportunity to make the office of lieutenant governor an office serving the public, one which will hear citizens complaints and strive to find the solutions to their problems," Phelps said.

"Under the prior system, qualified Republicans were excluded, for political reasons, from the opportunity to work for the state in positions not under the merit system. This administration is changing that system so that political preference is not the primary consideration for employment in any agency."

"The new administration successfully campaigned on the idea that professional government would be established in Missouri and I can assure you every aspect of the personnel picture in this state is being reviewed thoroughly," Phelps said.

Noting that the evaluation and change process cannot be completed in six weeks, Phelps said, "When the review is completed, every person holding a state payroll job will be holding that job because of their individual merit and not for any other reason."

Entertainment for the evening was provided by soloists John Stallings of Charleston and Buck Cantwell of East Prairie. Mrs. Howard Schneider, organist, provided the dinner music.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Now that we have achieved the highest standard of living in the world, there is one more goal ahead — to be able to afford it.

WOMEN'S LIB, TAKE NOTE!

Every now and then, one of our compatriots, rummaging around in his newspaper "morgue" (old files to you landlubbers) comes up with one of those ancient literary gems which seem never to grow old. Such was the case, recently, when Ollie Neudecker, Editor of the SLEEPY EYE (Minnesota) HERALD-DISPATCH came across a poem called "Grandmothers Perfect Day." Ollie dusted it off, set the type again, and ran it with the comment: "The obvious comparison it draws between the attitude of today and not too many years ago makes it worth repeating."

We agree, so here 'tis: Grandmother's Perfect Day

Grandmother, on a winter's day,
Milked the cows and fed them hay,
Slopped the hogs, saddled the mule,
And got the children off to school.

Did the washing, mopped the floors,
Washed some windows, and did some chores,
Cooked a dish of home-dried fruit,

Pressed her husband's Sunday suit,
Swept the parlor, made the bed,
Baked a dozen loaves of bread,

Split some firewood, and lugged it in,
Enough to fill a kitchen bin.

Cleaned the lamps and put in oil,
Stewed some apples she thought would spoil,
Churned the butter, baked a cake,

Then exclaimed "For mercy sake
The calves have got out of the pen."

Went out and chased them in again.
Gathered the eggs and locked the stable,
Back to the house and set the table,

Cooked a supper that was delicious,
And afterwards washed all the dishes,
Fed the cat, and sprinkled the clothes,

Mended a basketful of hose,
Then opened the organ and began to play:
"When You Come to the End of a Perfect Day."

The average man pays little attention to strikes, as long as the woman who nurses the baby, does the cooking, sewing, washes the dishes and clothes and does the ironing, doesn't go out.

A correspondent tells the news: a co-responder tries to suppress it.

TIME'S GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Originally, the new magazine was to have been called Facts. But when the first issue, dated March 3, 1923, hit the newsstands, it bore the name Time. Only 9,000 copies were sold. Eventually, though, the pioneering newsmagazine prospered beyond the dreams of its founders, Briton Hadden and Henry R. Luce, and transformed journalism in the process. Today, as Time prepares to celebrate its 50th anniversary, it and its sister publications are reported to be in robust financial health.

Time was not the first newsmagazine. The Literary Digest had been on the scene for years. What made Time distinctive was its approach to the news and its prose style. In their prospectus, Hadden and Luce wrote: "... the editors recognize that complete neutrality on public questions and important news is probably as undesirable as it is impossible, and are therefore ready to acknowledge certain prejudices which many in varying measure predetermine their opinions on the news."

The famous Timestyle, which has since been muted beyond recognition, ran heavily to short, staccato sentences, colorful adjectives and verbs, and inverted syntax. This was mostly Hadden's doing. As W. A. Swanberg noted in his recent biography, Luce and his Empire, "People in Time became gray-thatched, gentle-spirited or beetle-browed, and as Hadden grew bolder they became pot-bellied, tough-talking, snaggled-toothed, sour-visaged or bag-jowled ... Hadden seldom let people merely say something. They barked, snapped, gushed, muttered, growled, blathered, grunted, cooed or shrieked. Nor were they permitted to walk. They dashed, shuffled, ambled, pussyfooted, sashayed, lumbered or lurched."

The success of Time led to other publishing ventures, including Fortune, Sports Illustrated, and the now-defunct Architectural Forum and Life. A new specialty magazine, Money, is said to be doing well, and two others — tentatively named Camera Month and View — are in the planning stage. In addition, Time Inc. is a pacesetter in the related fields of cable television, pay television, and video cassettes. The company owns wholly or partially 11 cable TV systems across the country, including the nation's largest, Sterling Manhattan Cable. Far from doddering in its golden anniversary year, Time remains a giant and an innovator in the communications field.

NEW YORK (AP) — What kind of boy should a girl marry?

That's easy. She should marry the kind she can be reasonably happy with — and whom she can keep reasonably happy.

What kinds of boys should she not marry? Well — lots of kinds. But she should take particular care not to marry the kind of boy who —

Thinks he has a perfect right to snap her garter half an hour after he buys her a steak.

Is willing to promise her anything, but can't write her a love letter that at least sounds sincere.

Insists on looking in every closet before he leaves her apartment — just to be sure she isn't hiding a rival there.

Doesn't keep her photo in his wallet, so he can show it to old ladies he sits next to on plane trips.

Never wants to go on a stroll with her under a full moon.

Refuses to light the candles if she thinks it would be romantic for them to dine by candlelight.

Is perfectly willing to buy her champagne on the first night of the honeymoon, but not on the second night.

Carries his old pet dog — instead of her — across the threshold when they first enter their new home.

Won't launder her stockings if she breaks her arm.

Is jealous even of her girl friends.

Thinks a woman looks out of place except in the kitchen or the bedroom.

Never puts his arms around her or kisses the back of her neck while she is cooking.

Is too prissy to go skinny-dipping with her when they're alone on an empty beach during a vacation.

Rushes out to buy a new toothbrush if she uses his by mistake.

Holds the family umbrella mostly over him, not her, if they have to go out in the rain.

Doesn't mind at all if she makes more on her job than he does on his — particularly if she spends the money on him.

Is unwilling to take out much life insurance on himself because — "well after all, if you women want to be so damn liberated, you should be perfectly willing to look out after yourselves — if a fellow dies."

Wants her to become the second mother of his life.

The big trouble, girls, is that by the time you find out this is the kind of boy you shouldn't marry — well, you and the big beast are about to celebrate your silver wedding anniversary.

BLOCKING BETTER NUTRITION

An executive of one of the largest food processing companies in the nation, and a participant in the White House Conference on Food, Nutrition and Health, has noted that the chief accomplishment of the Conference was to show how complex the problem of hunger is. "Hunger is not just one thing," he observes. "It is a tragic knot composed of many tangled strands. One of these strands is an adequate supply of nourishing food. Another is sufficient income to purchase the food. Yet another is knowledge of how to eat in order to be well-nourished. A fourth is the desire, or motivation, to eat well."

There is no question of the capacity of this country to feed Americans and to feed them well. However, he believes the system must be improved to meet the needs of those who do not share in its benefits to the fullest extent. One of the problems is that present federal food regulations prevent the use of recently developed, highly nutritious new foods that have been created by the food industry to satisfy extreme nutrition deficiency. As the food industry spokesman puts it, "It is less than practical to talk of raising the nutritional status of the American public so long as such regulations block changes that would enable the food industry to meet national nutrition goals. A more realistic approach to the setting of food standards is a matter of utmost urgency."

Colonel Sam S. Smith, the Missouri State Highway Patrol Superintendent, noted that the pedestrian traffic carnage over the past five years is particularly distressing when one considers that just a little more alertness on the part of the involved drivers and pedestrians may have prevented many of the tragedies.

"Pedestrian safety is a two-way proposition involving the driver and the pedestrian," Smith stated. "Both must be aware of each other's problems and work together in a common endeavor to reduce the high pedestrian traffic toll. A driver should expect a pedestrian to have faulty judgment in estimating the speed of an automobile, in figuring how well the driver can see him, and in determining how long it will take to bring the car to a stop," the Colonel continued. "At the same time, a pedestrian should never assume that just because he can see an approaching vehicle, the driver can see him."

"Many pedestrian accidents can be prevented," Smith concluded, "if both drivers and pedestrians would recognize these limitations of one another, and expect the unexpected."

"My teenage daughter is at that awkward age," one mother said to another. "She knows how to make phone calls, but not how to end them."

RECOGNIZE THE IMPOSSIBLE

Landing a man on the moon capped a century or more of technological wonders that collectively have had an unfortunate psychological impact. We have reached the point where we take literally the observation that the U.S. rate began to soar. Murder and can do anything it sets its mind to. Maybe it can, but there are some things that are obviously impracticable or impossible. A young worker who had been loafing for most of the past year approached an older man just before he was to be reviewed for a raise. "Do you think," he asked anxiously, "that if I really work hard for the next two weeks, I'll get a raise?"

"Son," the older worker replied, "you make me think of a thermometer in a cold room. You can make it register higher by holding your hand over it, but you won't be warming the room."

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Loan Sharks Can Learn From Taxman's Tactics

WASHINGTON — Senator Joseph Montoya, D-N.M., is investigating complaints from taxpayers who claim they have been hounded, bullied and browbeaten by tax collectors whose methods would put a loan shark to shame.

Many a widow's last mite has been snatched from her by an overzealous Internal Revenue Service. Men have been stripped of their livelihood and, along with it, their only means of paying the government.

Montoya will present testimony that agents are trained to presume the taxpayer has cheated; that they are encouraged to claim the taxpayer owes too much rather than too little; that two out of every three dollars in IRS auditors' claims turn out to be baseless; that a taxpayer's appeal varies according to where he lives and how much money is involved; that wealthy taxpayers don't appear to receive as close scrutiny as do poorer taxpayers; and that people of prominence or political pull are given special treatment.

There will also be testimony that the IRS sets a "quota" target or plan for squeezing money out of taxpayers who are selected for audit. Last year's figures, it will be alleged, called for auditors to bring in $68 to $71 for each audited individual making $10,000 or less, $926 for individuals in the $10,000 to $30,000 income bracket and $1,000 for small businesses in the $100,000 to $250,000 range.

Tax agents will be quoted as boasting they can find "errors in 99.9 per cent of all tax returns if we want to."

Crime and Punishment

An article by Ms. M. F. Harvey in National Review is entitled "They Have Gun Controls in England" — and indeed they do. England started out years ago to write laws against guns. The British thought they had the answer to crime prevention by simply depriving private citizens of the right of gun ownership.

For a number of years, the antiqu laws were credited with holding down the crime rate. Then in 1957, "... the British revised their traditional, and very stern, homicide laws...." The crime rate began to rise. Again in the words of Ms. Harvey "... the 'humanists' and the doctrinaire left-wingers in Britain's Labor Party. ... voted abolition of capital punishment. The crime rate began to soar. Murder and manslaughter increased steeply. Until 1957, says Ms. Harvey, "... the killing of impracticable or impossible. A Decisive majority of young people say they wish to keep the United States strong, as strong as the communists. We would all like to see the end to the need for heavy defense spending, but we live in the real world, not in Utopia, and the communists have not given up their desire to rule everyone. We will remember that.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

Governor George Wallace may be coming to an end.

The stricken governor reportedly is angered over some of the Nixon cutbacks, particularly the hold-up of a Law Enforcement Assistance grant to the University of Alabama.

Nixon and Wallace reached an accommodation, apparently, on a presidential flight from Mobile to Birmingham in May 1971. No one knows what the two men said to one another on the flight. But shortly thereafter, a criminal tax investigation of Wallace's brother, Gerald, was dropped.

The governor, in return, announced he would seek the Democratic presidential nomination rather than run as an independent, thus assuring the President that conservative votes wouldn't be drained away from him by a Wallace candidacy.

Gerald Wallace now heads a shadow group, which claims to speak for the governor who increasingly remains holed up in his mansion nursing his pain and paralysis. The Gerald Wallace group, says our sources in Montgomery, dispenses state contracts, leases and other favors. This was precisely what Wallace got into trouble with during an Internal Revenue before the 17-month period, that he charges against him were made "extensive use of chartered aircraft" and that the government paid his wife's travel costs on eight trips. The Wallace is basically a populist who believes in projects for the poor. Apparently, he has also to a Senate Subcommittee developed a scientific side to his tough law - and - order philosophy. He is eager to get federal funding for criminal justice centers, which would attempt to find a way of identifying the criminal mind and treating it. The Nixon cutbacks, therefore, have upset him.

WASHINGTON WHIRL FAITHFUL SECRETARY ACTION? President Nixon's new defense secretary, Elliot trips.

Richardson, has issued a directive to his staff explaining precisely how he wants correspondence prepared for his signature. Mindful that the President appreciates loyalty above all other qualities, Richardson instructed: "Use the complimentary close 'Sincerely' on all letters except on those addressed to the President. In the latter case, use 'Faithfully yours.'"

TEL AVIV PLOT — We reported on January 12 that Black September terrorists were plotting to hijack an airliner and crash it into downtown Tel Aviv. Our story was based on information that intelligence agencies had picked up on the secret radio Democratic presidential bands used by the Arab terrorists. Representative John Murphy, D-N.Y., wrote to President Nixon about the plot and his office altered the Israeli and his office altered the Israeli why Israel was so sensitive over the appearance of an airliner over Israeli territory and why Israeli pilots shot the airliner down when it refused to heed orders to land.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth says anyone practicing abortions in Missouri will do so at their own risk until a federal court rules on the state's anti-abortion law.

The U.S. Supreme Court told a federal court Monday in Kansas City to re-examine the state's anti-abortion law.

The Supreme Court ruled Jan. 22 that states may not interfere with the decision between a woman and her physician to end a pregnancy during the first six months.

Abortions are allowed under the present Missouri law only when the mother's life is in danger.

The state law was challenged in 1970 by two women and a group of doctors, but the federal court dismissed the case saying it had not been heard first in a state court.

The dismissal was appealed to the Supreme Court which ordered the federal court to rehear the case in light of the Jan. 22 ruling.

"Pending completion of all federal court proceedings," Danforth said, "It is my position that the Missouri anti-abortion statute remains in full force and effect."

Danforth said Tuesday he thought the abortion issue was "one of social policy" to be determined by state legislatures and not federal courts.

"Whether the state legislatures still have the power to set a rationally determined time at which abortion may be prohibited has not, in my opinion, been finally resolved by the Supreme Court," he added.

Neither Rector nor Delay has requested bond.

Robert Kitterman, his wife Bertha and their oldest daughter, Roberta, 17, were found tied to trees and shot in the head a short time after the Grandin banker removed $10,850 from his bank in an extortion scheme.

The three suspects were arrested in Poplar Bluff three days later.

Eight accident patients were treated Tuesday in the emergency room of Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Centennial slogan buttons will go on sale soon. The Monday Club will present a "then and now" fashion show in the spring. The Junior Civic Club Centennial Cookbook is ready to be printed. The Kiwanis Club plans to sponsor a square dance and box supper in July. A community sing will be held July 1. July 2 has been proclaimed "Youth Day."

"Industry on Parade" is the theme for July 3 festivities. A beard and bonnet contest and centennial ball are also planned. Centennial celebration festivities will conclude with a community picnic at the football stadium July 4. Special programs are planned for the grand finale that day as well as a fireworks display by the Rotary Club.

Percy Clippard, chairman of the industrial committee, reported on progress toward the establishment of the Arvin Co. here and stressed the importance of the March 25 bond issue.

Bill Settles reported on the 110 acres of land near the airport which is owned by the chamber. Ninety-three acres of the land were under cultivation this year, Settles said.

According to George Petty, membership committee chairman, the chamber has 118 paid members.

DEXTER — Committee reports were the main item of business at the noon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Monday.

Wilson Jarrel, chairman of the centennial committee, reported on upcoming centennial events.

Lloyd Williams, on the historical identification committee, Jarrel explained, is setting up historical points of interest in Dexter with the aid of local history teacher, Mrs. Jo Worley.

Other items outlined by Jarrel include:

Four divorces granted

NEW MADRID— Four divorces and two judgments were granted Tuesday in Circuit Court by Judge William L. Ragland.

Norma Sue Durbin of Gideon was divorced from Montie Earl Durbin following approval of a contract and property settlement agreement. She was given custody of one child and $60 monthly child support.

Linda Lou Williams of

New Madrid was divorced and awarded custody of one child in her suit against Roger D. Williams.

Benny W. Hendon of Lilbourn was divorced from Mildred Hendon and Lillie Ramsey was divorced from Dem Ramsey.

Hampton Bank of St. Louis was granted $887.26 judgment against Phillip W. Smith. Brian A. Luetzow and others doing business as Luetzow Industries received $177.75 judgment and court costs against Dizer Capps doing business as Ideal Cleaners in Portageville.

On Monday, Judge Ragland awarded a divorce, custody of eight children and $50 monthly child support to Margie Simmons in her suit against George Everett Simmons.

Food costs blamed on farm prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today that higher farm prices were entirely to blame for last month's record 2.5-per-cent increase in supermarket food costs. Beef and pork prices hit record highs; eggs were up 18 per cent.

Middlemen, including those who buy farm products, transform them into retail items and sell to consumers, actually absorbed part of the January increase, the department said in a report.

Today's report dealt only with retail food items which originate on U.S. farms.

Races develop in Parma election

PARMA— Races have developed for the police judge, city marshal and collector posts, according to City Clerk Jimmy Webb. The city election is set for April 3 with the filing deadline set for noon March 24.

John Tetters and Harry C. Batts are seeking the one-year unexpired term of Hudson Parker, who resigned.

Max Terrell is opposing

City Marshal Hollis "Doc" Lindley for his post, and Betty Stanley has filed against Flora Garrard for the Collector's office.

Harold Sapp has filed for the two-year alderman term in ward two, and Doyle Crowe is seeking the one-year unexpired term resigned by Larry Crain.

No one has filed for mayor or the ward two alderman post.

Board members elected

HAYTI— Seven executive board members were elected at a meeting of the Bootheel Regional Council on Aging Monday in the County Health Center.

Elected were William Dillion of New Madrid County, the Rev. John Walker of Stoddard County, Mrs. Alma Eggert of Pemiscot County, Mrs. Flora Ivy of Mississippi County, Moody Summitt of Dunklin County, C.B. Taylor of Scott County and Teresa Duff who was also elected publicity director.

The board approved a nutrition program for citizens over 60 years of age, the first of its kind in the six-county area.

A discussion was held concerning the need for transportation for the aged in the area.

The next meeting of the council will be March 26 in Sikeston.

EAST PRAIRIE— A one-woman show, featuring the work of Mrs. Fay Schneider, will begin Thursday at Two Tony's Smorgasbord in Sikeston and remain on display through the end of March.

Featured in the show will be approximately 35 oil paintings, including still-life, seascapes, florals and landscapes, all painted since last May.

Mrs. Schneider, who has been painting seven years, had a two-woman show in Two Tony's last year jointly with the paintings of her cousin, Mrs. Elizabeth Scott of East Prairie. Her work has also been displayed with the Sikeston Art Guild, First Bank of East Prairie annual art show and she has shown at the Southeast Missouri art show in Cape Girardeau since she began painting.

Her work was featured in a one-woman show in October in the Clinton, Ky., bank. She entered three pictures in the Clinton Art Show and received second place honors with her oil painting, "Field of Daisies", which was displayed in November in the Clinton Bank. In December, another painting, "Winter Wonderland", was shown.

She recently received notification that two of her paintings have been accepted at a Juried Gallery in Johnson City, Tenn.

The petite and attractive Mrs. Schneider paints for enjoyment and relaxation and friends have received a number of her paintings. In addition to her household duties, Mrs. Schneider assists her husband Howard in the management of the Mississippi County Fertilizer Co. in East Prairie.

Her two grandchildren have served as inspiration for several paintings. Watch for a particularly charming painting of her granddaughter, which shows a back view of a little girl in jeans, in her one-woman show at Two Tony's.

One-woman show

"Peace Roses in a Blue Bowl", a still-life painting by Mrs. Fay Schneider of East Prairie, will be featured in a one-woman show during March at Two Tony's Smorgasbord in Sikeston. Mrs. Schneider is shown with the painting in the living room of her home.

Citizenship awards go to 8 girls

Eight area girls were given Daughters of the American Revolution citizen awards by the King's Highway Chapter at a tea Saturday afternoon at Ramada Inn.

The awards, presented by Miss Margaret Harris, are given each February during American History month to high school senior girls who have been chosen best citizens by their teachers and classmates.

Receiving the pins, certificates and American flags were:

Katie Simpkins of East Prairie High School, Pat Lancaster of Sikeston High School, Vickie Henthorne of Poplar Bluff High School, Ruth Ann Harris of Oran High School, Patty Lane of Richland High School at Essex, Jan Huffstutter of Charleston High School, Vera Dirnberger of Kelly High School at Benton and Becky Bohannon of Scott City High School.

Winners not present were Kathy Dowdy of Dexter High School, Michelle Pugh of Scott County Central High School, Gail Shy of Chaffee High School and Sandi Jean Jackson of Bloomfield High School.

Prior to the presentation of awards, a message from Mrs. Donald Spicer, president general of the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution, was read by Mrs. Joseph Baker. A National Defense Committee report on "Post-War Defense Planning" was read by Mrs. Helen Loud Jones.

The Dupont Family orchestra, introduced by Mrs. Mimi Smitten, entertained with classical and modern selections played on violin, viola, cello, harp and piano. Members of the group were Mrs. Jean and Lynnell Dupont and Elizabeth, Stephen, Carolyn, Phillip and Vincent Dupont. Miss Debbie Hunt also played violin with the ensemble.

Miss Jane Ann Baker, Mrs. Cyndi Greiner and Mrs. Bonnie Greer were hostesses.

Ann Landers

Family rejects husband but not first grandchild

Dear Ann Landers: Four years ago, at the age of 17, I told my parents I was going to become engaged to a man they despised. They tried to talk me out of it but my mind was made up. I should tell you that Robert was six years my senior and handicapped. They informed me that if I accepted a ring from him I must move out of the house at once. So I did, and moved in with Robert.

Eleven months later our child was born. We decided to get married three weeks after that by the justice of the peace. I phoned my mother, with whom I had had little contact those several months, and told her about the baby. She said she had heard the news and she and my father would like to see me but Robert was not welcome in their home. He is very hurt but he feels I should take the baby and go see them.

I don't know what to do, Ann. I know my folks are dying to see their first grandchild, but I hate to hurt my husband. Please advise...

Asunder In Onio

Dear Asunder: Take the baby and go see them. In time perhaps they will relent and accept Robert. If you reject this invitation, it might mean a closed door for all time. Don't risk it. Now is the time to build bridges—not burn them.

Dear Ann Landers: Regarding a recent letter about interrupting people who are speaking, you seem to think, Ann, that it makes for a lively conversation when one person gets fired up and wants to hop in and say something. Where I was raised that was called "butting in."

When someone butts in on me it means he thinks what HE has to say is more important than what I am saying. When this happens I clam up or leave.

It has been my experience that the windbags who interrupt most frequently are the biggest bores. If I have to horn in when someone else has the floor in order to say something I'd just as soon not speak.—One Who Waits In Calgary

Dear One: I've said it before and I'll say it again. In most spirited conversations, if someone didn't interrupt the speaker he's probably go on forever. Usually I don't mind being interrupted. When I do mind, I'll say so and refuse to yield the floor. When I interrupt others and they refuse to yield the floor, I respect their wishes.

Dear Ann Landers: I am an 18-year-old girl and am writing about a very unusual problem. I have a brother who is seven years older than I but who acts like a ten-year-old. We each inherited $15,000 from our grandmother about six months ago. The way he acts you'd think it was a million. The first thing he did was buy some gold digger tramp a fur coat and a very expensive piece of jewelry. She dropped out of sight a few weeks later. Yesterday he gave another girl his car because he is going to buy another one for himself. He says this is sort of an engagement present, which is ridiculous. The girl is still married. Last night he informed me that he is running a little low on cash and asked me to lend him $1,000. His ex-girlfriend needs an abortion. He says he is desperate. What should I do?—In A Spot

Dear Spot: He says he's desperate? He's also nuts. Don't lend him any money—unless he needs it for psychiatric treatment. This I would approve.

Confidential to all readers who wrote to say: "DON'T TURN OFF THE IGNITION IF THE ACCELERATOR IS STRUCK": My advice was OK for the older models, but cars with power steering are another matter. Turning off the ignition will lock the steering wheel. Better shift into neutral and use the brakes.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers' guide to "Necking And Petting"—What Are The Limits? Send your request to problem. I have a brother who is seven years older than I but who acts like a ten-year-old. We each inherited $15,000 addressed envelope.

Red Cross drive begins in New Madrid County

NEW MADRID — The New Madrid County chapter of American Red Cross has set a $5,000 goal for the annual fund drive which begins Thursday.

Since there is no county chairman, Mrs. Howard Crisler of New Madrid, service to military families, chairman, will again work with those who have accepted the chairmanship in each community.

Chairmen announced are: Mrs. Mildred Brotherton, Kewanee; Mrs. Ray Fowler, LaForge; Mrs. Sally Warren, Matthews; Mrs. Buddy Stowe, East Prairie Star Route; Tom Moore, Highway 61; Mrs. Nelson Lumsden, Canalou; Hoyte Butler and Mrs. Raymond Wyman, Parma; Harry Gremore, Catron. L.V. Stevens and Mrs. Donnie Westmoreland, Lilbourn; Mrs. Ann Cook Marston; Mrs. Sam Pikey and Mrs. John Klipfel, Conran; Mrs. William Stout, Mrs. Virginia Swilley and Floyce Maxwell, Portageville; Mrs. Marie Branche, Howardville; and Mrs. Helen Summers, Risco.

Morehouse does not have a chairman. However, donations may be mailed to Mrs. Crisler at 550 Waters St., New Madrid 63869.

Financed through voluntary contributions, money is used to provide essential financial support for Red Cross services and programs in the community and nationally. Some community services include a water safety instruction class, Project Find, which locates elderly people to determine eligibility for food stamps, mails Christmas ditty bags to servicemen in Vietnam, service to more than 200 servicemen and their families, which involves money for long distance telephone calls in time of death or sickness, and a special drive for South Dakota flood disaster victims.

The play, under the direction of sponsors Peggy Sides and Fred Pike, includes the following cast: Bill Swiney as Bart Burdette; Keith Davidson as the Rev. Pete Moss; Danny Stobaugh as Bruno Karp; Elton Bates as Dillingham Fuddy; Ricky McCord as Arnold; Danny Stone as Kerr Doktor Klaus Von Schlaser. Jane Smelser as Jane Arkwright; Judy Sawyer as Ellen Arkwright; Jo Carlisle as Jacqueline Jerrold; Donna Mayes as Patty Larson; Rosie Moore as Asadilla Beaver; Carolyn Bartlett as Granny Karp; Sheila Stewart as Dudley Fuddy; and Linda White as Rozika.

RISCO — The junior class will sponsor a chili supper from 5 to 6:30 p.m. Friday in the Risco High School cafeteria. Admittance is 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children.

The chili supper will be followed by a volleyball game at 6:30 p.m. in the gym and a basketball game at 8 p.m.

RISCO — Members of the Tigerama staff, library staff and cheerleading squads will attend the annual Holiday on Ice in the Memphis Coliseum March 14 for the opening performance.

The 28 students will be accompanied by Mrs. Arlos Ray, Mrs. Rick Smelser, Mrs. A. L. Bates, Mrs. C. T. Allen, John Green and two bus drivers.

Q—Who invented the saxophone?

6 Writer claims that earth had space visitors centuries ago

By TERRY RYAN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Erick von Daniken insists that alien astronauts visited the earth in ancient times. To back him up, he has a pair of worldwide best sellers that have recently become paperback phenomena in this country.

"Maybe not all the theories in my books are correct," von Daniken said in an interview here Monday. "But there is no doubt that we were visited from outer space long ago."

Von Daniken, 37, a Swiss innkeeper by trade with no formal higher education, wraps an old theory with new words in his books.

The theory is that visitors from other worlds landed on earth in prehistoric times, created the rudiments of human civilization and departed.

Recast by von Daniken in the jargon of contemporary technology, the visitors become astronauts and their vehicles become nuclear rockets.

"Chariots of the Gods?" and "Gods From Outer Space," von Daniken's books, were published in Europe in the late 1960s. Translated into 32 languages, they have now sold more than 20 million copies, according to The Trade News Service, a publishing industry magazine.

The American editions, published in 1970 and 1971, enjoyed relatively good sales. More than one million paperback copies of "Chariots of the Gods?" had been sold at the end of last year.

Early in January, a film based on the books was shown on network television. Sales soared.

From nowhere, "Chariots of the Gods?" suddenly appeared as the second best selling nonfiction paperback in the country on The New York Times list. A survey of campus bookstores by The Chronicle of Higher Education ranked it third in sales this month. It was not among the top 10 campus sellers last month.

Von Daniken said religious doubts first caused him to question traditional explanations of man's past. Raised in a strict Catholic home, he began to wonder about Old Testament references to gods, instead of a singular god, and about the actual events that inspired the biblical writers.

Examining the holy books and mythologies of ancient peoples, von Daniken said he concluded that the often mentioned gods and fiery chariots were astronauts in space ships. They took such men as the prophet Ezekiel for rides into space and used nuclear weapons to purge the earth of such undesirables as the citizens of Sodom and Gomorrah, he said.

Traveling the world for a decade to look for himself, von Daniken decided that these prehistoric space visitors left behind great monuments and statues from Egypt to Easter Island, works he said early men could not have created without

Bond set for pair accused of tampering with vehicle

NEW MADRID — Magistrate Judge Leo Hedgepeth set $1,000 bond each for Benny Chappelle and Clyde Hayes of Portageville pending preliminary hearing March 20 on charges of feloniously tampering with a motor vehicle Friday. They are accused of putting sugar in the gas tank of a car owned by Eugene Watson.

David Wells and Kirk Mays of Libbourn pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana of less than 35 grams. They were each fined $125, given six months suspended jail sentences and placed on probation for one year.

T. L. Cook was fined $130 on charges of driving while intoxicated and operating a motor vehicle without an operator license. He was given six months suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for one year. Richard George White drew $125 fine on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Two fined $65 each on charges of hunting rabbits at night with aid of lights and hunting rabbits while season is closed were Larry Dale brakes, $20; Danny Ray Gibbins, operating improperly registered vehicle, $20; and Bradberry Farms, no Missouri special fuel user's license and defective brakes, $25.

Kennett Transport dismissed civil suit against W. O. and Bob Swiney following a settlement.

Man hurt in wreck

ZALMA — A Marble Hill man was injured at 1:55 p.m. Tuesday when the pickup truck in which he was riding ran off the road four miles north of Zalma on Highway 51.

Louis Woodfin, 55, received head cuts when the truck sideswiped a tree. He was treated at a doctor's office in Lutesville.

The driver of the pickup, Duell Burton, 45, of Marble Hill was uninjured.

Others fined on motor vehicle violations were John Franklin Poindexter, operating overwidth vehicle, $20; Jon Gregory DeLisle, failure to title vehicle, $20; Jimmie Ray Bradley, careless and imprudent driving, $25; John Nelson Jr., no operator license, $20; Donald Wayne Haynes, careless and imprudent driving, $20; Charleston Farm Store, operating overwidth vehicle, $20; Lutesville Pallet, defective

Twenty years ago today, we arrived in Sikeston to take charge of the Sikeston Standard. Many changes have taken place in that time, the greatest of which has been the financial condition of our citizens. At that time Sikeston was reported to be the richest town per capita in the United States with 30 citizens who would average one million dollars each. Now we are all poor-- some poorer than others. At the time of our arrival, we had $18 in cash in our pocket one wife and a house full of children, now all that remain:

is the wife as all the childrer McCarty came down from St. and the $18 are gone.

Funeral services were with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. conducted Sunday at the J.P. McCarty, west of town.

What's the law?

The case of the disbarred lawyer

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Nathaniel Dinkledonk was an attorney of questionable conduct. As a result, he was ultimately disbarred. Undismayed because he could no longer practice law, Dinkledonk decided to do the next best thing. He decided to become a judge by running for election to the state Supreme Court. When he filed his petition to be placed on the ballot, however, he ran into some stiff opposition.

"Under state law," he was told, "only those 'Learned in the Law' may run for the Supreme Court. And since you've been disbarred, you're no longer 'learned in the law' as required. Besides, as a disbarred lawyer, what idiot do you think would vote for you?"

"People are entitled to their choice," was Dinkledonk's answer. "And as for my being 'learned in the law,' I'm just as 'learned in the law' as I was before my disbarment. After all, my mind's not like a computer where everything can be erased by pushing a button."

The dispute ended up in court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit the disbarred lawyer to run for the state Supreme Court?

This is how the judge ruled: No! The judge held that the state requirement that only a person "learned in the law" may run for the Supreme Court precludes a layman from running for that office. And, concluded the judge, when an attorney is disbarred, he is reduced to the status of a layman. Therefore, Dinkledonk is in no better position to run for that office than any other layman.

Proposed jobs beat records

JEFFERSON CITY — The number of proposed new jobs announced in new and expanding industries during the month of January exceeded all previous records for a one-month period, according to Henry Maddox, director of the Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development.

Holcomb named manager

Boyd W. Holcomb has been named branch manager of Moore's Missouri Co. on Highway 62 east of the Interstate 55 interchange.

Holcomb has been employed by the Moore's Super Stores chain, a division of Evans Products Co., since May 23, 1968, when he began as an inside salesman at the branch store in Asheville, N.C. Advancing to general salesman on Dec. 16, 1968, and assistant branch manager on Feb. 23, 1970, Holcomb remained at the Asheville store until being named branch manager of the Sikeston store where he replaced former manager Freddie Heise.

Holcomb and his wife Barbara are now getting settled in their new Sikeston home with their son Randy, 10, and daughter Tracy, 4. Actively engaged in sales work since 1961, Holcomb raises registered beef cattle as a sideline and enjoys leisure-time activities of camping and water skiing with his family.

Receives Service award

Ellis Atchison, manager of Homestead Distributing Company, this week received a plaque from Tiffany Industries Inc. in appreciation for service on the advisory board of directors. He was appointed Feb. 5, 1972. Tiffany, a St. Louis-based corporation, is a multi-million dollar publicly held firm with nine subsidiaries and divisions which market products in American's biggest growth industries— including office, educational and institutional furniture, electronic equipment and corrugated cartons. Atchison is one of the leading dealers for Superior Manufacturing, Tiffany's agricultural division.

No sick time

Mrs. Ila Underhill, right, receives an outstanding service award and a $5 savings bond from Jess Lacefield, manager of the Kingsway Plaza Mall J.C. Penney Co. store. Mrs. Underhill has worked eight continuous years without missing one day for sickness. Lacefield said that her record is the most outstanding he has seen in his 18 years with the Penney firm. Mrs. Underhill is head associate of women's sportswear and the Junior Shop.

JEFFERSON CITY— Gov. Christopher (Kit) Bond's request to the Missouri House of Representatives to change the state license fee offices will undergo further study by the House Roads and Highway Committee.

Chairman of the Committee, Rep. Howard M. Garrett, D— Sikeston, has appointed a three man sub-committee to further study House Bill 223 and report their findings and recommendations to the full committee.

"We were looking forward to January being a banner month for job announcements," he said, "and we're certainly happy over the fact that the month developed into the record breaker it turned out to be."

Cannon explained that 776 of the announced new jobs in January came through new industries locating in eight Missouri cities. A total of 1,912 new jobs were announced by present industry expansions. Expansions occurred in 12 Missouri cities.

Chairman of the Sub-committee will be Rep. C.F. Cline, D— Sikeston. Also appointed were Rep. Ralph Jones, D— Overland, and Rep. Donald Gann, R— Ozark.

The Sub-committee will hold detailed hearings on the bill and give both proponents and opponents equal time to present their arguments.

A resolution to allow the General Assembly to remain in unlimited session has been introduced by Rep. Cline. The Resolution has been co-sponsored by the leadership of the House of Representatives and both Republican and Democratic legislators including Rep. Fred DeField of Charleston. It is a non-partisan effort on the part of the General Assembly to improve itself.

The House Joint Resolution would remove the present time limits imposed by the Missouri Constitution which requires the General Assembly to adjourn at midnight on June 30 in odd-numbered years and on May 15 in even-numbered years.

The Senate confirmed the appointment of Claude A. Jacobs, Kirksville, to the State Park Board.

In other House action, bills receiving tentative approval would:

—Give greater operating authority to credit unions, including permission to poll resources in a "non-profit mutual society."

—Allow buyers three days to cancel orders given to door-to-door salesmen.

—Prohibit auto insurance companies from canceling a policy for any reason other than nonpayment of a premium or at the request of the insured.

—Permit a police officer to participate in political activities and to sue for damages when his civil rights are violated during performance of his duties.

ACK ACK IS PRIZE

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)

—Ack Ack, thoroughbred racing's horse of the year in 1971, will be one of the three stallions whose services will be available to the owner whose horse wins the Matchmaker Stakes to be run here later in the year.

Raise A Native and Delta Judge were the other top stallions made available.

Ack Ack, now at Claiborne Farm in Paris, Ky., won 19 of his 27 starts and was out of the money only twice. He earned $636,641 in four years of racing.

Charleston principal gives reasons for resignation

CHARLESTON — William Sherrill Summitt resigned as principal of the high school Feb. 23.

In his letter of resignation to the board of education Summitt said:

"Although we have a good school year going for us this year and everything seems to be in order, due to the past attitudes of the members of the school board toward my professional administrative policies, I consider it not to be in my best interest both personally and professionally to remain in the position of high school principal after June 30, 1973."

Summitt said in an interview Tuesday, "There were several reasons for terminating my employment as principal. However, I shall list just a few for those who are concerned."

"First, in February 1972, the superintendent and I recommended former assistant principal Coy Franklin for re-employment for one year. The school board voted twice to fire him after asking for evaluation and recommendations. They refused to accept both. I was made the scapegoat in the community for the action of the board, and the school board refused to protect my position," he said.

"Second, in February and March 1972, Herbert Marshall, board member, criticized me twice in the Sikeston Standard over my position in the case of the former assistant principal and, third, in March, Marshall stopped me from investigating a theft of a student permanent record which was removed from the school vault on a weekend," Summitt said.

"Fourth, Mrs. Helen Currin, another board member, has actively encouraged dissent, and before students in the Commons, in the presence of other adults."

"After these situations arose, I decided to look for more respectable working conditions and planned to move as soon as possible," he said. "During the latter part of the school year and during the summer months, the situation quieted down considerably and, in August, I decided to stay at least another year. I felt confident we could have a good school year with the help of the incoming senior class and with new faculty members," he continued.

"In spite of the fact that we are having a good school year and things are in good order, I decided during Christmas vacation to terminate my work as principal at the end of the school year due to continued harassment by one or two board members," Summitt said. "I submitted my letter of resignation at the regular board meeting on Feb. 23," he concluded. During his years in the administrative field of education, Summitt has held the position of counselor at Dexter for four years, principal of Richland High School for two years, Dexter principal for seven years and principal and administrative assistant at House Springs for seven years. He is presently in his third year as principal of Charleston High School.

When asked about his future plans, Summitt commented, "My future plans are indefinite. However, professional people take care of professional people."

Q—When did the East German flag acquire its present design?

A—East Germany's flag was the same as West Germany's from 1955 to 1959, when the Communists added the coat of arms.

Q—When were chest protectors introduced into major league baseball?

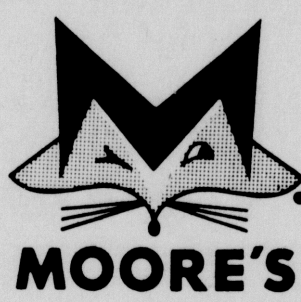

A—In 1885. The first chest protectors were worn by catchers and umpires.

Q—Why are South American eagles called harpies?

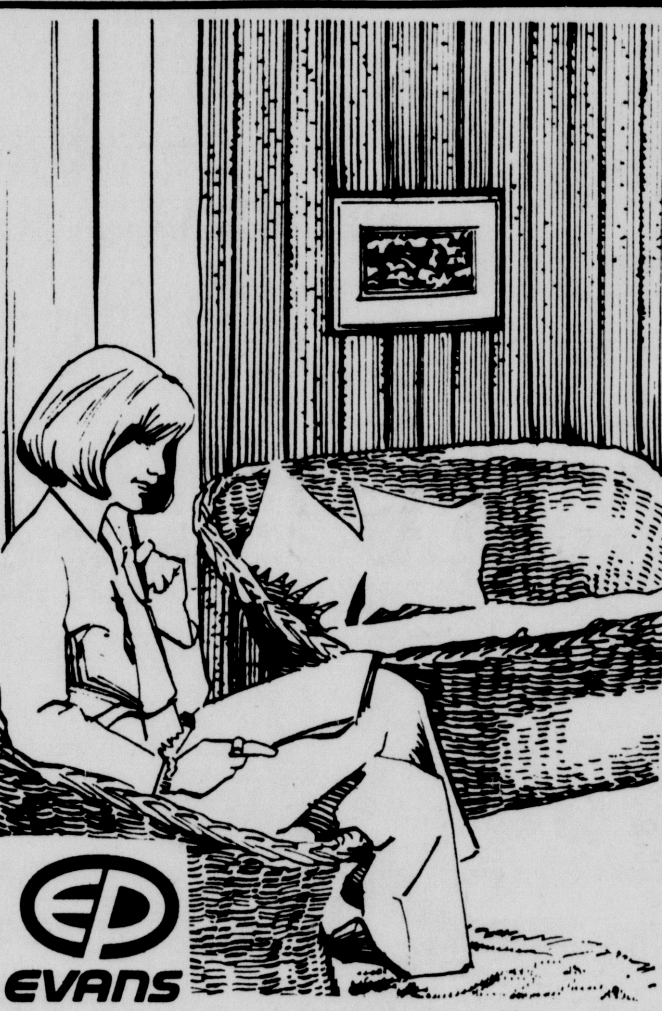

A—The great harpy eagle was named for the harpies of Greek mythology, believed to be half-woman, half-bird.

Bulldogs race into finals

Coach Dan Milligan's Cape Girardeau Central Tigers and a fited-up group of Sikeston Bulldogs emerged the victors last night in opening round action of the class 'L' regional basketball tournament at the Sikeston fieldhouse. The two teams will square-off Friday night in 7:30 championship contest and the winner will earn the right to advance to state play where they will be meeting the champions of the Lindbergh regional.

In the opening game last night the CCHS Tigers put together a 46 point second half to handily defeat the Farmington Knights, 68-42, behind Dick Buxton's 24 points and Hunter Stiegemeyer's 20.

Stiegemeyer led Central to a quick 14-5 first quarter advantage with 10 points in the first eight minutes as the Knights couldn't seem to find the range.

In the second period both teams made numerous floor mistakes coupled with cool shooting to deadlock the score at eight all for the quarter and give Cape a 22-13 halftime lead.

The Tigers dominated the three boards at both ends of the court in the second half as they began to slowly increase their margin of victory.

The sadly underrated Sikeston Bulldogs won the second game last night, 78-64, over the Poplar Bluff Mules. The Mules, coached by Tom Hoover, ended their campaign with a very respectable 19-8 mark. Sikeston, going into Friday's rematch with Cape Central, carries a 6-12 record.

Ronald Marks and Pope Hunt led a four man double figure scoring attack for SHS with 20 points each. Hunt, Sikeston 6-foot-4 pivotman, also led all rebounders with 13 despite sitting out much of the third and fourth quarters in foul trouble. Other valuable Bulldogs in the must win were Roy Bowman and Jeremiah Tucker. Bowman scored his season's high of 18 points and Tucker, Sikeston's team captain, added 10 points and eight blockedshots to go with 11 rebounds.

Bob Gray closed out his career for Poplar Bluff in a blaze of glory, scoring 26 points before fouling out in the final frame. Cold-shooting Brad Locke and Tuttle Hayes were other Mules in twin figures. Locke took 21 shots and came up with but 15 points. Hayes scored 10, many coming on fast break layups after his numerous steals in the fourth quarter.

Poplar Bluff started the game like they were going to blow Sikeston off the court. Hitting their first four shots, the Mules had a quick 8-0 lead before coach N. P. McDaniel called timeout. After the pause, the Dogs played a bit better and narrowed the gap to six by the quarter's end 17-11.

The Mules began committing the turnover in the second quarter and Sikeston began capitalizing. Dominating the boards the Bulldogs had assumed a three point lead before half at 34-31. Three late scores by the favored Mules tied the count by half, but after intermission, it was all Sikeston.

The third quarter was one of Sikeston's best of the year. They outscored Poplar Bluff 26-12 and assumed an insurmountable 14 point lead entering the last quarter, 60-46.

Even while stalling the ball the Bulldogs scored 18 points in the last quarter.

Lackadaisical play and loose passing gave the Mules several quick baskets via the fast break route, but it was too little, too late and Sikeston beat the Mules for the second time this year, 78-64.

Both teams were identical from the floor, hitting 30 of 66 shots for 45.5 per cent. However, Sikeston won the game at the free throw line. The Bulldog did not hit a good percentage, 18 of 33 for 54.5 per cent, but Poplar Bluff was even worse. The Mules netted just four of 16 tries from the charity line for a very poor 25 per cent.

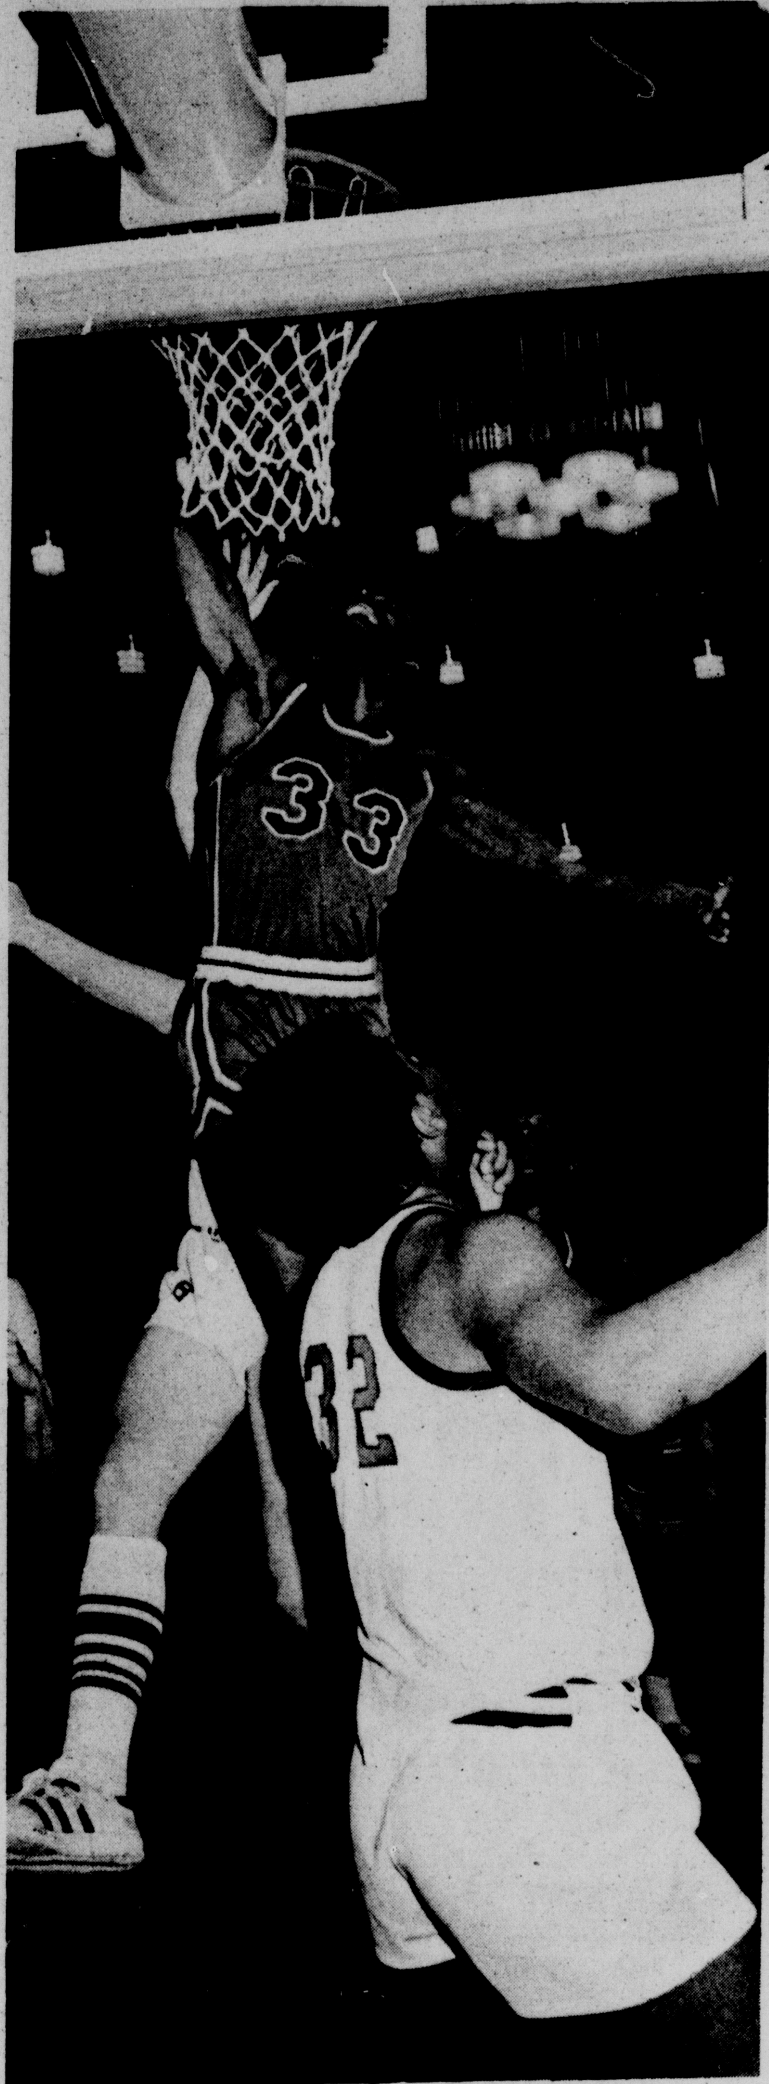

Couple this with Sikeston's domination of the boards, 39-25, and you have several good reasons why SHS came away with their sixth win in the last eight games.

Friday night it will be a rematch for Sikeston and Cape Central. Some outstanding free throw accuracy late in the game last Friday gave Cape Central a thrilling come-from-behind 51-48 win on the Tartan floor. That game, if won by Sikeston, would have been one of the upsets of the year. Now SEMO fans look with anticipation to the 7:30 contest for the regional championship at the week's end.

years for a state championship in the class M tournament when they go against the Kelly Hawks at Houck field house tonight. The Lancers of coach Herm Meyer finished second to Hermann in 1970 after shipping the Dexter Bearcats in the second round of state play at Cape Girardeau.

The Lancers come into the second round with a 27-1 record overall and are ranked second in the St. Louis and across the river area in the M class. Coach Meyer's Lancers are ranked eighth in all classes in the St. Louis area. Lutheran South has a student body of 670.

The Lancers have played nine large schools in St. Louis and their only loss came at the hands of University City.

Coach Meyer will put a good deal of height on the floor Wednesday night against the Kelly Hawks as Rich Reuter stands 6-7, plays forward and averages 15 points a game and 10 rebounds. Their other forward is 6-2 Fritz Raedeke who averages 12 points and eight rebounds. Gary Hoemann is the center at 6-5 and carries an 18 point per game average with nine rebounds. At the guard positions the Lancers have 5-9 Al Schertei with a seven point per game average and 6-0 Keith Kolander who averages four points.

Coach Meyer uses a seven man team with reserves Danny Wendel, a 5-10 guard, averaging 10 points as the sixth man and 6-3 John Hohenstein at forward averaging five points a game.

The Lancers rely on defense for their game winner and average around 67 points per game offensively.

The Hawks will counter with a 21-8 slate and have played mostly M and S class schools with one encounter with being against the class L power Cape Girardeau Central which the Hawks fell victim by two points in the College High Christmas tournament. Kelly has a student body enrollment of 279. Only 29 above class S.

The tallest man for Nick Lanper's Hawks is Randy Thompson at center, averaging 15 points a game and standing at 6-3. Randy is a big rebounder on the team with a 10 rebound average per contest. Jeff Jackson is a 6-2 forward who is averaging 16 points a game and 10 rebounds. Jeff has become the most productive point getter since the beginning of the regionals, averaging around 26 markers a game. Dennis Shelby is the other forward at 6-2. Dennis averages in the neighborhood of 18 points per game and 13 rebounds.

At the guard positions the Hawks have 6-1 Vernon Dirnberger who has been shooting well since the regionals began and averaging 20 points a game. The other guard is 5-8 Rich Urhahn, who is the traffic director and averages 16 points from around the key and on the fast break. Coach Lanpher uses Kelly Urhahn, brother of Rich as a third guard whenever either guard gets into foul trouble.

The contest begins at 7:30 at Houck Field House in Cape Girardeau and the winner will advance to the finals at Columbia Friday.

S,M state play resumes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sixteen teams, eight in Class S and eight in Class M, compete tonight for the right to enter the state semi-finals Friday in Columbia.

In Class S competition, Clifton meets Advance in Hillsboro, Mound City and Sedalia Sacred Heart meet at Maryville, Glasgow and Westran meet at Kirksville and Morrisville and Forsyth clash at Springfield.

In Class M, Webb City plays Ava at Springfield, Lutheran South meets Kelly at Cape Girardeau, Hillsboro plays Palmyra at Troy and Bishop Hogan meets Kansas City Manual at Kearney.

Tonight's winners enter semifinal competition Friday at the University of Missouri in Columbia, with the two Class S games being played at 2 and 3:30 p.m., and the Class M games set for 7 and 8:30 p.m.

The Class S finals will be at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Columbia, with a consolation game set for 9 a.m. The Class

M state titlist will be decided at 9 p.m. in Columbia, with the consolation game in that class set for 6 p.m.

Champ

Elks club nine year old state free throw shooting champion, Mark Denbow, will participate in the national shootoff next month in Iowa. Mark, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Denbow of Ironton, and grandson of Mrs. Stella Slinkard of Morehouse, won the state title at Poplar Bluff last week. His father was a star for the Morehouse Tigers during the 50's and coached at Parma high school.

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Just a year ago, Dick Allen was baseball's bad man. No team, it seemed, was willing to put up with his idiosyncracies for very long.

The Chicago White Sox took their turn with the temperamental slugger last season, acquiring him from the Los Angeles Dodgers in exchange for pitcher Tommy John. Now the White Sox are not only willing to put up with Allen, they're paying him more money than any player in the history of the major leagues.

Allen, who changed the White Sox from an also-ran into a solid pennant contender, signed a three-year contract Tuesday for $675,000.

The previous top salary in baseball was negotiated by Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves, who is in the second of a three-year contract for $600,000.

Allen's remark on the contract was: "I can't count that high."

The White Sox' first baseman wasn't the only slugger signed to a six-figure pact Tuesday. Frank Robinson of the California Angels, acquired from the Dodgers in an off-season deal, signed a two-year contract for a reported $300,000.

"We have recognized what he has done in the past and what he can do in the future for us," said Angels General Manager Harry Dalton.

Allen, who will be 31 next month, broke into the majors with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1964. He was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals where he played one year before being traded to the Dodgers for another one-year stint.

When he learned about his trade to the White Sox, Allen reportedly was reluctant to sign. He finally came to terms for $130,000 and turned out to be a bargain.

He led the American League with 37 home runs and 118 runs batted in and his .308 average was only 10 points shy of batting champion Rod Carew of the Minnesota Twins. He was voted the American League's Most Valuable Player and proved to be a boon for the White Sox gate.

"I'm excited about this ball club after the way we played last season," said Allen. "There's no doubt in my mind that we can win the pennant."

Sluggish Rusty Staub agreed to a three-year, $300,000 deal with the New York Mets—but General Manager Bob Scheffing said a fringe benefit clause was holding up the contract signing.

"There's something Rusty wants, but I don't want to give it to him," Scheffing said.

Cincinnati Reds' catcher Johnny Bench, who underwent surgery for a benign lesion in his right lung during the offseason, said he could not foresee any problems with his throwing arm.

"I've been throwing for two days and there's nothing but the normal stiffness you get after two days," Bench said.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said in Boston that the new three-year agreement between the players and club owners would provide "three years of peace."

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Two players, one an all-state quarterback from Chicago, are the latest to sign Big Eight letters of intent to attend the University of Missouri.

Steve Mally, 6-1, 198-pound signal-caller, was named the most valuable player in Chicago's Catholic League last fall. He averaged 7.4 yards rushing and accounted for 1,300 yards of total offense for St. Lawrence High School.

Also signing was Oliver Burbridge, Jr., a lineman with Vashon High School in St. Louis.

Cards report

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Ten more St. Louis Cardinals reported for spring training Tuesday at the Red Bird camp here.

Outfielder Bernie Carbo joined the 16 pitchers and catchers working out in the Florida drills.

Besides Carbo, arrivals Tuesday included catchers Ted Simmons, Marc Hill and Gene Dusan and pitchers Wayne Granger, Jim Bibby, Lance Clemons, Ray Bare and Don Durham.

The backbone of the Cardinal pitching staff, Bob Gibson, Rick Wise and Diego Segui, have yet to report, however. All three are expected by Thursday, the day by which the full Red Bird roster should be at Al Lang Field.

The old eight ball and his assistants, Julie Johnson, Fred Copeland and Bill Harrison got lazy Tuesday and didn't have any guesses as to the winners and the final outcome of the opening round of the class L regional at Sikeston high school field house.

It might have been just as well after the foursome had another fifty percent mark in their Monday night guesses. So with today's guesses, we'll conclude our guessing game for this season...

ADVANCE VS. CLOPTON-- The Hornets will have their hands full...But we've stuck with the defending champs all season and we see no reason to change now...A repeat title is our forecast...Advance 69, Clopton 63.

KELLY VS. LUTHERAN SOUTH-- Coach Nick Lampher's Hawks haven't proved themselves to us yet...Their opponent tonight is one of the top 10 teams in the state...A win would gain our confidence...Lutheran South 63, Kelly 49.

CAPE CENTRAL VS. SIKESTON-- We haven't chanced a guess on the Bulldogs all season, but we thought it was about time. When the SHS crew are playing together...they are one of the toughest teams in the district...and it seems that's the way their doing now. Cape is big and strong, but if the Bulldogs can stay out of foul trouble...It's another state tournament ticket for SHS...Sikeston 71, Cape Central 70.

We'll try to make this a daily column next season...and might even include a few guest prognosticators each week...

Three seniors ended their college basketball careers at Southeast Missouri State University Monday night.

Leaving via diplomas are Paul Hale and Leonard Bishop, both of whom transferred to the University from Three Rivers Junior College in Poplar Bluff, and Jeff Landgraf of Jackson.

Hale played high school ball at Scott Central. He has ended the season with a five point average for the season and was a key reserve, although he started off and on during his two years at Southeast Missouri State.

Bishop is a graduate of Matthews High School. He started frequently during the last two years and was counted on as a calm ball handler with excellent outside shooting range. Last year Bishop received honorable mention on the All-MIAA squad and has averaged 10 points per outing.

Landgraf played the roll of a reserve and saw action in 19 of the Tribe's 23 games. He was able to pick up more playing time when the team lost Fred Johnson in mid-January. The forward, who scored 11 points Saturday night against the College of Racine, averaged four points per contest.

Rufus Lavender was elected president of the Sikeston Fast Pitch Softball Association at its organizational meeting early this month. Jim Duke was named vice-president.

Six teams were accepted into membership. They were Budweiser, Matthews, National Guard, Caproco, First National Bank and the Bank of Sikeston.

A meeting to set the schedule and discuss rules has been set for March 11 at 2:30 in the first National Bank community room. Any teams wishing to join the league should contact league president 471-8253.

Out of 16 class S regional tournaments only eight first seeded teams placed in the state tournament. Four second seeded teams. One third seeded, two fourth seeded, and one unseeded.

Of the top four teams competing last year, only defending state champion Advance and runnerup Morrisville are still in the running.

Advance and Clopton square off at Hillsboro Wednesday night. Advance was seeded first in the Zama regional and Clopton was seeded third behind Ellsberry.

Mound City was seeded first in the Maryville regional and takes on Sacred Heart, seeded second to Montrose in the Windsor regional at Maryville Wednesday night.

Glasgow and Westran, seeded first at Glasgow and Shelbyville respectively, collide at Kirksville Wednesday night.

Morrisville, seeded first at Urbana plays Forsyth who was seeded second at School of the Ozarks. They collide at Springfield.

Only nine first seeded teams out of 16 class M regionals made it into state tournament play. Three second seeded, one third seeded, and two unseeded.

Webb City, seeded first at Cassville plays Ava, first seeded at Willow Springs in second round action at Springfield Wednesday night.

Lutheran South, first seeded at Clayton takes on Kelly, second seeded at Essex at Cape Girardeau.

Hillsboro, seeded second at Sullivan plays Palmyra, unseeded at Camden in a game at Troy High School.

Bishop Hogan, first seeded at Butler takes on Kansas City Manual at Kearney High School tonight.

Advance opponent...20-9

The Daily Standard,
Sikeston, Mo.

Wednesday, 11

February 28, 1973

HILLSBORO -- Clopton High School of Clarksville will be the next opponent for the Advance Hornets of coach Carroll Cookson enroute to their second straight class S State championship.

If the Hornets should win the state title it would mark the first time a southeast Missouri entry has captured the crown two consecutive seasons since the legendary Puxico Indians, on which coach Cookson was a star guard, blitzed through to titles in 1950-51 and 51-52, losing only two games in 80 starts during their two year reign.

Clopton, coached by Bob Frank, sports a 20-9 record and are upset winners over favored Ellsberry, 58-46, in the first round of state tournament play at New Haven.

Clopton boasts of a win over Montgomery County last years state class M champion, in the Troy invitational tournament earlier this year when the Wildcats were 22-0.

Lilburn Gregory is the tallest Hawk, at 6-5. Gregory plays center and averages 14 points and 10 rebounds a game. At forward is Joe Lewis and Richard Grimshaw. Lewis is 6-2 with a 14 point per game average. Grimshaw is 5-10 and averages nine points a game.

Gary Wheeler at 5-11 and Chris Douglas at 5-9 are the two starting guards and average four and six points a game respectively. The sixth man is 6-0 guard Duke Duvall with a three point per game average.

Clopton has two previous appearances in state tournament competition, the first being in 1966 when the Hawks lost in the first round and coach Frank's Hawks finished third in 1964.

The Hornets will pin their hopes on a balanced scoring attack led by 6-1 guard

Darrell Croy, averaging around the 20 point mark and 6-3 forward Terry Wills, who scores in the 20's and has been above 30 in two of the last three tournament encounters.

Along with Croy and Wills the Hornets have Kenny Emerson, a 5-10 guard who hits at a 10 point per game pace and forward John Rhodes who averages in double figures. Rhodes, 6-2 and Wills along with 6-3 center Roger Daniel are the big board men for coach Cookson's defending champions.

Coach Cookson relies on reserve guard Dennis Dunivan in defensive situations and depends on 6-4 John Wiggins in certain foul situations to either of his three big men inside.

The Hornets have beefed up their varsity team with such standout sophomores as Jo David Cummins, Ron Oller, and David Tropp, from the junior varsity team which lost only one game, that being to the Naylor varsity team in the Zama invitational tournament.

The Hornets are 30-1, their only loss coming at the hands, ironically, of the Puxico Indians who coach

Cookson helped to bring to fame.

Advance has been ranked as the number one class S team in the state for the biggest part of the season by a Kansas Paper.

"Why are you studying, Daddy? Is your boss giving a test tomorrow?"

CARNIVAL by Dick Turner

"No, I don't think continued loud music causes deafness... much as it might be desired!"

SIDE GLANCES by Gill Fox

"President Nixon says 'NO' to permissiveness. From now on, you'll ASK for the car before you take it!"

COOKING-UP

This week Mrs. Helon Myrick, home economics teacher at Bell City, sent in a whole batch of recipes her class had prepared and liked. Most are simple and easy to make (because they are the learn-to-cook recipes used by Mrs. Myrick's junior and senior high school students. There is no order to them ... just a few that sounded good. As you can see, I have a sweet tooth. Hope you enjoy them.

MACARONI SUPPER CASSEROLE
4 cups cooked macaroni (8 oz. pkg.)
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup diced green pepper
1/4 cup chopped pimientos
1 small onion, chopped
1 tsp. salt
10 1/2 oz. can mushroom soup, blended with 1/2 cup milk
1 cup grated cheese
Heat oven to 425 degrees. Combine all ingredients, using only half the cheese. Pour into greased casserole. Sprinkle with remaining cheese and bake 20 minutes.

APPLE CRISP
4 cups sliced apples
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 cup water.
1/4 cup sifted flour
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter
Place in buttered 10 x 6 x 2 inch baking dish the sliced apples. Sprinkle with cinnamon, salt and water. Rub together the flour, sugar and butter. Drop mixture over apples and bake 350 degrees for 40 minutes. Serve warm with whipped cream.

NATURAL SWEET TREAT
1/3 cup honey
1/2 cup crunchy peanut butter
1/2 cup non-fat dry milk
Mix honey and peanut butter in bowl. Stir in non-fat dry milk, a little at a time, until thoroughly mixed. Shape into narrow roll.
Wrap in waxed paper and chill until firm. Cut into 1-inch pieces and wrap in cellophane. Yields 1/2 pound.

RED VELVET CAKE
1/2 cup shortening
1 1/4 cups sugar
2 beaten eggs

2 oz. red food coloring
3 tbsps. cocoa
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
2 1/2 cups cake flour, sifted 3 times
1 cup buttermilk
1 tsp. soda dissolved in 1 tbsps. vinegar
Cream shortening and sugar. Add beaten eggs. Make paste of coloring and cocoa and add to the creamed mixture. Add salt, vanilla and flour alternately with buttermilk. Fold in vinegar and soda mixture. Bake at 350 degrees until cake is done. Test with cake tester in center until it comes out clean.

GINGERBREAD
2/3 cup sugar
1/3 cup shortening
1 egg
2 cups flour
1/4 cup unsulphured molasses

I want to thank all of you for the terrific response I got to the column on television and on the lack of censorship of today's programs. I received a number of letters and also articles from churches, clubs and other organizations which are actively opposing this degrading use of a fantastic media. I bundled up the column, a personal letter and the whole shibang off to the President of ABC, so, at least the Joe Public of Southeastern Missouri has spoken their piece and surely it will help some; if not, the set goes off at seven pounds can wreak. They you me, if enough dials stayed turned to OFF, the programs will start changing then for sure!

People may not dig me but dogs sure enough do! I am trying to write this column with the neighbors poodle sitting on my paper and applying a rather soggy nose to the end of my pen which seems to make it unoperable. This little two and a half pound piece of fluff is my poodle's sister, and since they live next door to each other one of them is constantly running across the yard to bark at a back door to be allowed to come in and play with the other for awhile. But, the drawback is that Sissy (I realize that's not a very frenchified name for a fancy poodle, but that's what the three year old Harper's youngest christened her and to the column on television who can fight—and win an argument with a three year old of today's programs. Star chef preferred kitchen to courtroom

By TOM HOGE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A handsome young Peruvian, who set out to be a lawyer but preferred the kitchen to the courtroom, has become a celebrity in the world of cookery. Felipe Rojas-Lombardi, 25, lecturing in schools and made a year-old food columnist, lecturer, cookbook author and culinary teacher, has been hailed as a young established luminary applied to offspring of the aristocracy. Felipe's interest in the young and their diets prompted him to write the "Everyone Can Cook Book" which was aimed at teen-agers and young adults. It contained more than 200 recipes, and served in effect as a simplified guide to gourmet cooking.

Several months ago Felipe came forth with his second book, called the "A to Z No-watch with fascination as the pre-chef prepared elaborate dinners for his father, who was the head of an import-export house 52 recipes for salads, sandwiches, desserts and other dishes that require no cooking. It should delight nervous parents since the recipes do not call for hot stoves, boiling water, sharp knives or other culinary hazards.

Some of the recipes are of interest to adults as well as small fry. Take the "Blue Danube Dip" which would add zest to any cocktail party. 2 tablespoons blue cheese 2 medium onions diced 4 ounces mayonnaise 12 ounces sour cream 1 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

In a bowl mash cheese, then mix with sour cream and mayonnaise. Add onions and pepper. Mix well.

TOPPING:
1 cup sugar
1 stick oleo
1 small can evaporated milk
1 cup chopped nuts
1 1/4 cups coconut
Dump all cake ingredients in large mixing bowl, stirring or beating slightly to moisten batter thoroughly. Pour batter into sheet cake pan and bake in preheated oven at 350 degrees for about 40 minutes.

For topping: In large sauce pan mix sugar, oleo and milk. Bring to a boil and boil for 10 minutes. Add the nuts and coconut.

Mix well and pour over warm cake.

CHEWY CHERRY BROWNIES
3 squares (1 oz. each) unsweetened chocolate
1/2 cup butter
3 eggs
1/4 tsp. salt
1 1/4 cups sugar
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 cup enriched flour
1 can (3 1/2 oz) flaked coconut, optional
16 candied cherries, cut in half

In top half of double-boiler, melt together chocolate and butter. Cool to lukewarm. In mixing bowl beat together eggs and salt until lemon colored. Gradually add sugar, beating until thick. Blend in cooled chocolate mixture and vanilla. Stir in flour until moistened. Add coconut, if desired.

Turn into greased 9 x 13 inch pan, spreading evenly. Press cherry halves into batter, cut side down, about one inch apart. Bake in preheated 375-degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes. Cake tester should come out clean.

Cook on wire rack and cut into bars. Store in loosely covered container.

GLORIFIED STEW
1 lb. ground beef
1 small onion, chopped
1 can vegetable soup
1 can cream of mushroom soup
2 medium potatoes, sliced
2 carrots, sliced.
Brown meat and onion. Mix well with soups.
Place potatoes and carrots in bottom of baking dish. Pour the meat mixture on top.
Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees.

MACARONI IN CHEESE SAUCE
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup flour 1/2 tsp. salt
3 cups cooked macaroni
2 cups milk
1/2 tsp. mustard
1 1/4 cup grated cheese
Melt butter in large sauce pan. Mix in flour and salt. Add milk slowly, stirring all the time and cook over medium heat until sauce starts to boil. Lower heat and cook until thickened (about three minutes). Add mustard and cheese and stir over low heat until cheese melts. Mix in cooked macaroni and heat.

NOTE: For meat dish add 1 1/4 cups chopped, cooked ham. Pour into casserole and bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes.

SLAYINGS HIT RECORD
NEW YORK (AP) — There were 1,625 homicide victims in New York City in 1971, a new high, says Chief Medical Examiner Dr. Milton Helpert. In December a record 172 persons were slain in the city.

Police attribute the record number of killings to the lack of gun-control laws.

Previous record highs were in 1970, when 1,250 persons died in homicides here, and in August of 1971 when 158 persons were killed.

Social Security information

Senate starts quickly
due to bill prefilings

February 23, 1973

Dear Editor:

Attached is a supply of record because I'm living with my husband. She can't be right, can she?

A-- No, your sister is wrong. A wife who has worked under social security has the same right to monthly benefits as any other worker. However, a wife can't get full benefits on her own work record and on her husband's at the same time. If a wife is eligible for benefits on more than one record, she will always get the larger of the two payments.

Q-- I get a social security check each month and will be moving soon. Will changing my address delay my check?

A-- To avoid a delay in the delivery of your check, try to send your new address to us by the 15th of the month before you move. Also, be sure to notify the Post Office of your change of address so that your check can be forwarded to you if the change of address is not received in time.

Q-- I am a new bride and do not plan to retire from my job. What should I do about my social security card? My name is now different from the name on my card.

A-- You should ask for a new card showing your new name. You will be asked to complete a short application and then will be issued a new card that will contain the new name but the number is never changed.

Q-- I hire a man to work on my farm during the spring, summer, and into early fall. A neighbor told me that I should report this man's wages right away or there might be some sort of a penalty. Is he correct?

A-- Your neighbor is mistaken. Cash wages paid to a farm worker whether he works full-time or part-time is reported to the Internal Revenue Service only once a year. This report is due during the month of January covering wages paid during the past year.

Q-- I am drawing social security benefits. I was told that anything we sold would be counted as earned income. I have some property I would like to sell. Would this count as earned income and affect my social security pension?

A-- You can receive any amount of income from interest and principal payments from the sale of real property without giving up any social security benefits. The proceeds from the sale of your property is not earnings and will in no way affect your social security benefits.

Q-- I wrote to your Baltimore headquarters for my record. They said I was fully insured. Does this mean I will get maximum monthly payments when I retire?

A-- No, it does not. But it does mean that you've already worked long enough to be sure of a monthly payment when you're old enough to get them. Your average earnings, the amount of wages or self-employment income (or both) that you have on your record will be used to figure out the amount of your monthly check.

Q-- I am single and have never worked under social security. May I sign up for Medicare at age 65 in May 1973?

A-- Yes, contact your social security office 2 or 3 months before age 65. You qualify for medical insurance at age 65. A new provision permits you to sign up for the hospital insurance to begin July 1, 1973.

NELSON B. TINNIN
JEFFERSON CITY — The 1973 Missouri legislature is progressing at a rapid rate in tackling major problems which confront state government. The session started off fast from the beginning. This was due to the bill prefilings period which began last Dec. 1. This enabled law makers to immediately begin consideration of measures when the session opened in early January.

Before prefilings, the bills had to pass through a maze of routine in the early part of the session.

Committees are braced for long afternoon and night hearings on the 270 Senate Bills and 711 House bills that have been introduced. There are 30 Senate bills scheduled for committee hearings this week.

There is more major legislation facing the General Assembly this year than in many past sessions. Many issues have been heard by committees and 61 Senate bills that have been passed out of committees have had action on the floor. All bills have hearings in committees. Some bills are discussed for hours in the committees and may never reach the floor for debate.

Although the open meetings bill for legislative committees has just passed the Senate and been sent to the House, if that body passes it, it could not become a law until 90 days after the session ends.

I am already conducting open meetings in the two committees that I am chairman of, the Education Committee and the Committee on Agriculture, Conservation, Parks and Tourism. The open meetings bill is expected to be heavily debated in the House.

The Senate Appropriation Committee is in its second week of hearings on the Governor's $13.2 - million emergency appropriation bill to finance state government until July 1, the end of this fiscal year. We will complete hearings on this bill next week and start executive sessions.

The Senate reorganization bill that started out as a 540 page bill has now been trimmed to 162 pages. The committee has been holding opening hearings all week, starting Monday. I have been attending all the hearings when not in my own committees.

Legislative Research has rewritten the bill and is now explaining it to the committee and changes are being made. By the new bill, the number of merit employees would be trimmed. The highway patrol would maintain its own motor and aircraft pools.

The Department of Community Affairs, which handles most of the state's grant money, was shifted to the Office of Administration and would not be under the merit system.

The state junior colleges would be put under the Department of Higher Education. They have been under the Department of Education.

Reorganization would consolidate the 90 state agencies into the Office of Administration with 13 large departments: Agriculture, Elementary and Secondary Education; Higher Education; Consumer Affairs; Regulation and Licensing; Natural Resources; Revenue; Social Services; Mental Health; Transportation; Highways; Conservation; Public Safety; and Labor and Industrial Relations.

The Senate bill to reinstate the death penalty has now come out of committee and is on the Senate calendar. This bill would reinstate the death penalty for premeditated murder during rape, robbery, murder for hire, murder by persons in custody of law enforcement personnel, murder of a policeman and murder of more than one person in one incident.

The Equal Rights Amendment has suffered a fatal setback in the Senate when the Senate committee that heard the bill voted 7 to 3 to not pass the bill out of committee.

This past week the bill that I have introduced on commodity merchandising was perfected on the Senate floor without a dissenting vote.

This bill has been approved by the Agriculture, Conservation, Parks and Tourism Committee after two weeks of hearings. The bill is to update and clarify the commodity merchandising law which I had carried in 1969.

Since that time, the producers of peaches, apples, eggs and turkeys have elected to come under the bill with the producers approving a check-off system to finance research and promotion of their product.

The law would apply to producers of all agricultural commodities, except wheat, feed grains, cotton, cattle, swine, sheep and dairy products.

The object of the change is to make the whole process more democratic and clarify certain provisions of the present law which have been the subject of some conflict. The bill clarifies the provisions for petition, hearings and the actual referendum on a commodity merchandising proposal and gives the state commissioner of agriculture more latitude in administering the law.

By this bill, at least five per cent of the producers may petition for permission to establish a commodity merchandising council. A producer will have to register with the commissioner in order to vote in the referendum and tell him how much of the commodity he has produced in the last three years.

Last Wednesday a bill that I have introduced to regulate the sale and use of pesticides, defoliants and other plant controls received unanimous support from witnesses testifying before the Senate Agriculture Committee. There were 17 witnesses, representing farm and pesticide groups, nursery groups, as well as a representative from the Environmental Protection Agency that endorsed the bill.

The bill would require all dealers and applicators, of yet to be named restricted materials by the federal government, to be licensed by the commissioner of agriculture. Chemicals that are highly toxic to the user and those having adverse effects on the environment will be restricted. This bill excepts farmers doing their own work, or trading work with their neighbors.

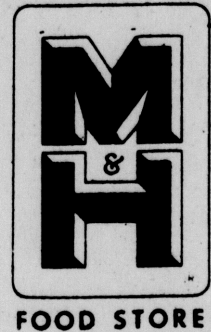

More books are read in Iceland than in any other nation, in proportion to population. Nothing else to do.

Writers foresee trials

WASHINGTON — Capitalism may be headed for the bone pile. So say a number of writers who have looked into the future and found it to be an unhappy time for free, competitive markets. It is not a Marxian uprising the prophets fear so much as the continuation of some uniquely capitalistic trends.

John G. Gurley, a professor of economics at Stanford University, writes, for instance, that "powerful adverse forces" are operating against U.S. capitalism. These include the growing clout of labor unions in corporate management, sharp competition in international trade, and an emerging rivalry between nations for raw materials. "Capitalism will survive," Gurley concludes, but it will do so as a "state-directed monopoly."

Robert L. Heilbroner of the New School for Social Research is concerned about the direction of certain social movements — the call for participatory democracy, the alienation of the young, the new sexual morality. Heilbroner speculates that these "deep-seated changes in lifeways" could undermine capitalism in a manner as fatal as the most dramatic proletarian revolution.

Capitalism has changed mightily in the past and there is no reason to doubt that it will continue to do so. Today's competitive market is far different from the one that prompted Adam Smith to write the "Wealth of Nations" in 1776. Smith's then-novel idea was that an "invisible hand" guides businessmen to promote the public interest: As they compete with each other for the consumer's money, they strive to make their products better and sell them cheaper.

The invisible hand worked well enough in a market of many small businessmen but it became crippled in the 19th century — the "public be damned" era of robber barons, monopolies and price fixing. That too, has changed. The corporate executive who dared echo J. P. Morgan's "I owe the public nothing," would find himself out of a job in today's world of consumer and environmental concern.

Perhaps the most fundamental change in American capitalism in the past half-century is the growth of government control over big business. Some 100 federal agencies now keep tabs on commercial activities.

John Kenneth Galbraith, among others, sees a growing partnership, rather than animosity, between business and government. Washington's decision to bail out the bankrupt, threatened Lockheed and Penn Central companies lends weight to that view, as does the Defense Department's recent purchase of stock in the Gap Instrument Corp.

Multinational Corporations

may be capitalism's wave of the future. Courtney Brown, former dean of the Columbia Graduate School of Business, describes these corporate octopuses as "the hoped-for force that will ultimately provide a means of unifying and reconciling the aspirations of mankind."

There are opposing views about the future of the multinationals, however. Robert W. Cox thinks it unlikely that nation-states will abdicate "in favor of a constellation of private supranational institutions in which labor and management share power." Global companies are now under a withering crossfire from economic nationalists abroad and labor unions at home.

Still, it is probably too early to count out capitalism. We may have arrived at the end of what one writer calls "Cowboy Capitalism" — the reckless pursuit of profits at all costs. But that, as the pseudonymous modern-day "Adam Smith" adds, "does not mean another era of something else is immediately at hand."

Capitalism will doubtless change but its imminent demise is probably exaggerated.

Length of payment time has little effect on total benefits from Social Security

By JAMES COLSON

One of the parts of Social Security which has been especially hard for people to understand is the fact that the length of time that one has paid into the program has little, if any, direct bearing on the amount of the benefits payable.

Social Security began in 1937, and many people have paid into the program ever since. However, other groups, like the self-employed, farmers, domestic and farm workers and most professional people did not begin to pay into Social Security until later.

Largely because of the fact that so many working people actually couldn't pay into the system, because they weren't covered by it, the benefits have been geared to the average earnings during the periods one did pay into the system, rather than the number of years one paid in.

The law was changed in 1972 to give credit in some cases for people who have paid into Social Security for many years. This law will affect only those who have received comparatively low wages over a long period of time. The new system permits an alternate way of computing the benefit for those people who have paid into Social Security for over 20 years. For people with over 30 years of participation in Social Security, the benefit would be $170 per month (or $255 for a couple).

To qualify under this, there must be a certain amount of wages shown for each of the 30 years under consideration.

For example say that Joe Blow has been a porter in a small hotel since 1940. He began work at $75 per month and over the years raised that to about $255 per month. When he retired two years ago, his benefit was based on an average wage of $150 per month. In December 1972, his benefit was $134 per month but, in January 1973, using the new rule, he will receive $170 per month.

This benefit is called a "special minimum" and is intended for those people who have worked many years in employment covered by Social Security at a low wage.

It did not seem appropriate then to raise all minimum Social Security benefits, since that would benefit many people who draw substantial pensions from another source.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

What Are Foods For Weight Gain?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb — Could you tell me the basic foods for gaining weight. I mean the high protein, high carbohydrate foods. Also could you tell me if a quart of milk is too much. I am 15 years old.

Dear Reader — The basic foods to eat to gain weight are those that have a lot of calories for a small amount of weight or volume. Basically, these are the foods that are rich in fat and those that are made of concentrated sweets. Most of the natural high protein foods aren't particularly good for gaining weight. To illustrate, lean round steak with all visible fat removed is 70 per cent water and really doesn't contain an awful lot of calories for the volume of food a person eats. By contrast, pure lard contains no water and is one of the highest calorie foods you can get. Many carbohydrate foods really don't contain a lot of calories, for example, the vegetable group. By contrast, flour which contains very little water contains a lot of calories. Sugar is loaded with calories as are syrups, honey, molasses, candies, nuts and similar foods.

I am not real wild about people gaining lots of weight and particularly fat deposits. If you want to increase your muscle mass, that's fine, but the best way to do this probably would be an exercise program involving weight training. In this way you could build more muscle mass. The foods you could use in this case, of course, would be high protein foods such as lean meats, lean chicken, lean fish, low-fat or fortified skim milk, bean seeds, and cereals. A good balanced diet is adequate. The body will select the proteins it needs for muscle building and all the rest are used for energy or converted to fat like other food. The secret to the weight gain will be the weight training program.

No, a quart of milk is not too much. Many scientists would say it should be fortified skim milk to help prevent an excess fat intake and thereby protect against the development of fatty deposits in the arteries. There are a lot of good fortified milk products on the market which will meet this purpose. Milk is one of our most important sources of calcium in the diet and you'll need it to build a strong healthy body. Mature bean seeds are also a good source of calcium as well as protein.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I have always heard that one should not eat fish and drink milk at the same meal and people have told me of experiences they had of getting very sick after eating this combination. Now I hear there is nothing to that theory. Please give me your opinion and why did these people get sick?

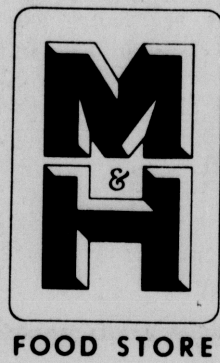

Dear Reader — This idea has no scientific basis. Both are perfectly good foods. Neither contains any toxic elements that will cause a healthy person to become ill. Your friends either ate bad fish, drank bad milk or the illness was unrelated to fish or milk.
